Reach your target audience in hyperspectral industry and become a sponsor at chiiOnline

“Established by the industry, for the industry”

With the launch a year ago, the new online format was initiated - the chiiOnline community.
It connects participants with all relevant hyperspectral stakeholders worldwide.

HSI technology is on the rise and particularly versatile in its application. In the 3 online events in December, the latest innovations and application examples in the field of spectral imaging will be presented to technology enthusiasts and industry experts. Leading hardware, software and solution providers will be represented. The unique chiiOnline community offers a global, cross-industry network. The aim is to initiate, promote and coordinate collaboration between companies, researchers and solution providers. As a hub for member companies, research institutes and decision makers, the chiiOnline community is committed to the worldwide promotion and further advancement of hyperspectral technology.

All previous chii organizer are on board again: Perception Park, SFG, Spectronet and the Enterprise European Network (een).

Post a table. Take the opportunity to share your expertise and discuss how inspection can improve product quality in plant operations and production. Or talk about how HSI enables the detection of material defects and irregularities. Discover how new technologies promise a remarkable impact on the world of hyperspectral systems. Miniaturisation of hyperspectral sensors, artificial cloud services are key topics in this context.
