

Water Pollution Detectives

INTCATCH is the future of water quality monitoring. Using robotic boats with a range of water quality sensors we offer a service to investigate water quality issues:

- Autonomous and radio controlled boats equipped with innovative sensors
- Next-generation genomics tools
- Innovative self-monitoring treatment systems for combined sewer overflows
- Real-time water quality data
- Decision Support Systems turn data into information to inform action

www.intcatch.eu

 @intcatch

INTCATCH investigators are presently active in Germany, Greece, Italy, Spain and the UK. For further information contact mark.scrimshaw@brunel.ac.uk

River Investigator Lake Guardian

Supported by the Horizon 2020 Framework Programme of the European Union.

This project has received funding from the European Union's Horizon 2020 research and innovation programme under grant agreement no. 689341-2.