Connecting Central America - Working together for sustainable development

Are you interested in discovering new markets? The Centre for the Promotion of Imports from developing countries (CBI) connects you with reliable, high quality suppliers equipped to do business with a European partner. Within its ‘Connecting Central America’ initiative, CBI supports SMEs and cooperatives in becoming more competitive on the European market. The initiative is co-financed by the European Union and coordinated by SIECA.

Meet quality suppliers from Central America
Due to the unique origins with very varied aromas and flavours, a history behind the product, Central America is a source of high quality products, carefully produced and processed by small and medium coffee farmers. These countries offer numerous products that appeal to the European market, especially considering the Association Agreement that was signed between the EU and the Central American region in 2012. Among other things, this agreement has eliminated most import tariffs and has improved conditions for trade.

The ‘Connecting Central America’ initiative presents cooperatives, estates and private companies from Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua and Panama, representing the main producing regions of each country. All participants are focused on sustainability and social commitment and offer a diversified portfolio of quality from different terroirs.

About CBI
CBI connects small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) in developing countries with the European market, in order to contribute to sustainable and inclusive economic growth. The CBI is part of the Netherlands Enterprise Agency and is mainly funded by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Netherlands. Within the framework of the Central American Regional Economic Integration (INTEC) project, which is financed primarily by the European Union and coordinated by SIECA, the EU and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Netherlands signed a cooperation agreement to jointly promote the advantages for Central American SMEs of the Association Agreement between the EU and Central America.

In this context, CBI executes the initiative “Connecting Central America” to support 60 Small and Medium sized Enterprises (SMEs) and cooperatives from Central America, between 2018 and 2021, in becoming (more) competitive on the European market. CBI presents 24 carefully selected specialty coffee companies and cooperatives from Central America. Each of these companies has received individual coaching from a CBI sector expert.
About the European Union
This project is co-funded by the European Union. The EU is a unique peace and solidarity project in the world, associating 27 Member States with values of freedom, democracy and solidarity. At the regional level, in Central America the EU promotes the protection of human rights, including gender equity; supports matters of security and rule of law; it contributes to mitigation and adaptation to climate change and promotes employment, trade and investment.

Coopelibertad R.L. was born in 1961, in one of the most significant moments for cooperativism in Costa Rica and it came to represent a solution for coffee producers in the Heredia area to obtain better results from their agricultural work. Since the foundation, the Cooperative has worked shoulder to shoulder with its associates, in the search for the common good, and thus to support the improvement of its economic and social situation; through the cultivation of coffee.

In a large number of farms distributed through the Cental Valley, the cooperative associates are concerned about taking care of the coffee plants.

Mainly cultivated with varieties such as Caturra and Catuaí, each farmer applies sustainable techniques that will benefit their productivity and cup quality. From September until March, the cherry is collected from the farms and then is taken to the mill, where the following qualities are processed: Libertad Especial SHB-EP score 83.50, Matinilla Fancy High Commercial SHB score 84.25 and micro-lots of Obata variety, score > 88

After storage in silos, the coffee is prepared according to the contract requirements with the customer. Cupping tests are performed and samples are taken to ensure all the necessary standards prior to export.

Product and quantities:
- Green coffee, 100 lots of 275 bags of 69 kg

Llach Café begins in 1876 in the small town of Santiago de María, when Spanish emigrant Francisco Lasplasas settled in the southeast Salvadorean department of Usulutan. These coffee estates (fincas) where inherited by his nephew Prudencio Llach Capdevila. In the 1940’s the estates were passed on to Prudencio Llach Schonenberg and later on to his daughters, including Maria Cristina Llach, who still runs her farms the same way. Nearly a century and a half later Llach Café’s legacy is still visible.

Behind an excellent cup of Llach Café are the hard working hands of the people of Cerro El Tigre, where most of the fincas are located. People dedicate themselves year-round, selecting the best seeds to plant, caring for the growing plants until they are mature enough to be transplanted to the fincas. There they nourish the crops in the fertile volcanic grounds. During the harvest season they hand-pick only the perfectly ripe beans, ensuring only the optimum quality beans are selected for processing.

Our rich history and dedication has characterized Llach Café with excellence and tradition. A tradition of caring and commitment for these golden grains and the community of Santiago de María. Since the beginning, Llach Café has followed in the tradition of growing only the best coffee varieties, known worldwide for their exotic flavors, round bodies and rich aromas.

The company NEDECAZA, S.A. DEC.V., established in El Salvador, handles the entire process from cultivation to distribution. They have territories in the main coffee growing areas of El Salvador; work with several associated farms and the San Antonio Mill where coffee is transformed. Their farms are located at a height of more than 1200 meters above sea level, where several coffee varieties are cultivated like Arabica, Pacamaras, Bourbon, Caturras and Custatlecos.

The preparation process before being roasted is made by transforming the green coffee to parchment coffee, through dry and wet mills by separating the parts of the fruit and drying the grains, in patios and African beds, in order to preserve their physical quality. The different types of processes for the transformation of the coffee are washed, semi-washed, natural and honey.

Finca el Cerro is the product of five generations of Salvadoran coffee growers. Located in the Apaneca mountain range west of the country, the farm is at an ideal height for the cultivation of specialty coffees (1400-1500 MSNM). The microclimate of the farm is helped by the abundant natural forest surrounding the plantation, its conservation is one of our main objectives. We use farming methods that are friendly to the environment and we have areas that will soon be totally organic.

Another objective of the farm is the production of the highest quality coffees possible. We started by selecting the best seeds of the varietals that have given us the best results in the cup. We use methods of fertilization and farm management focused not only on production yield but also on cup quality. We carefully harvest only ripe beans to ensure the highest quality goes to the mill. At Finca el Cerro, we processed the coffee ourselves, which allows us to have full control of the coffee.

In 1963 Don Alejandro Morales purchased the farm with old Bourbon and Typica Coffee trees; in 1980, his son Dr. Fredy Morales inherited the land and took over the plantation, naming it ROSMA.

Throughout time, probably the most important achievement of Finca Rosma was bringing fresh spring water through a pipeline, which is 5 kilometers away from the farm; ever since then and with an ecological wet mill it has been able to process high quality washed coffee. Finally, after hard and passionate work in 2010 Rosma achieved the prestigious 2nd Place in the Guatemalan Cup of Excellence. Rosma has actively participated in the Guatemalan top 20 coffees in 2012, 2013, 2014 and was among the National Winners in 2015, 2016, 2019. It has been honored having 4 out of the 40 best samples in the last Guatemalan COE.

After such recognition, many overseas buyers came to Huehuetenango looking for Specialty Coffee, but Rosma had a limited production, and to satisfy the demand, it started exporting not only its very own, but many other small and medium size farm coffees of all Huehue’s sub-regions, with the clear objective of offering only the top quality coffees.

We are a family owned business that began operating in the 1950s in western Honduras, more specifically in Copan. We are certified with Rainforest Alliance since we are trying our best to take excellent care of our ecosystem and of the people who work with us. We are currently producing SHG coffee and specialty microlots using different processes including washed, honey and natural. Today the coffee is sold under the brand Café Welchez.

Café Welchez now employs 28 permanent workers and the farm is the home for 18 families. The families living in the Santa Isabel have access to a catholic church and the children have the opportunity to attend a small school. During harvest season Santa Isabel employs between 350-400 coffee pickers. The harvest usually begins in November/December and ends in March/April.

The farm “Santa Isabel” is what Don Raul and Doña Marina visualized the day it was bought “a place where families can earn an honest living; a preferred home for the local fauna where intelligent management of soil, water and forests are part of the daily work; a natural laboratory classroom where young people from around the world can come to learn about agroforestry techniques and coffee”.

Cooperativa Cafetalera Olancho Limitada (COCAOL) was founded on 15 November 1968 in order to get a better access to milling, selling and financing coffee from the region of Olancho.

In 1998, some farms around the cooperative as well as the plant were destroyed by Hurricane Mitch. Cocaol had to begin from 0.

However, the board of Directors and its members decided to face the problem and took the decision to buy a new mill in 1999, in the city of Santa María del Real, Olancho.

Due to challenges with the exportation of its coffee, the cooperative decided to promote direct exports, mainly to Europe.

Today, Cocaol has been able to build a sustainable export market for its 73 members.

Cocaol is Fair Trade, Organic, Rainforest Alliance and UTZ certified.
